

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an identified structure of a controlling bulb and a normal bulb of a decorative light string. The 5 controlling bulb can be easily identified from a normal bulb. And the controlling connecting with a holder can and only can be received in a relating socket for corrective connection of the light string.